

Saviour Sammie released onto PlayStation®Store for the PlayStation®Vita system

Use your thumb to move the ambulance bus with precision, saving lives by bouncing Sammie in this unique arcade-style game.

24th June 2015 – Fabresoft has released Saviour Sammie onto the PlayStation®Mobile section of the PlayStation®Store, exclusively for the PlayStation®Vita and PlayStation®TV systems. Players will be able to download the game for free until the 15th of July 2015, after which the PlayStation®Mobile section will close. The game will continue to be downloadable from the PlayStation®Vita browser until the 10th of September 2015 at <http://fabresoft.com/en/games/sammie/>. The game is free to download, and a fourth “Rescue Operation” is available for 1 USD / 103 JPY / 0.8 GBP.

Inspired by Peggle®’s take on Japanese pachinko games, Saviour Sammie is an entirely new take on classic, arcade bat-and-ball games. You move an ambulance bus along the bottom of the screen to bounce Sammie and pick up the unfortunate “snabells” caught in various disasters. Rescue snabells from a burning warehouse, a sinking ship, an avalanche and an amusement park where dodgem cars run wild. All four rescue operations have their own challenges and gameplay variations.

As an ambulance bus driver, your job is to save as many snabells as possible. Miss one and you lose! The high difficulty level makes Saviour Sammie perfect for quick, pick-up-and-play, score-attack game play. The bus can be controlled with super-high precision by dragging your thumb over the right side of the PlayStation®Vita touchscreen – without obscuring the playfield at all. Finally a control method that rivals the precision of your old paddle controller!

Saviour Sammie is available today in Japan, USA, Canada, Mexico, UK, Ireland, France, Spain, Italy, Germany, Austria, Switzerland, Poland, Belgium, the Netherlands, Denmark, Norway, Sweden, Finland, India, Australia & New Zealand. Note again that it will only be available for a limited time as a free download for PlayStation®Vita and PlayStation®TV! For more information, please visit: <http://fabresoft.com/en/games/sammie/>.

Sincerely,

Blueberry
